

National Teacher Research Panel

engaging teacher expertise

Did you know that there are more than 20 nationally funded teacher research projects currently running including thousands of teachers? What value could we add if all that learning was gathered together? This is the conference where we try to find out...

NTRP/TLRP Conference

Monday 24th November 2008

Queen Elizabeth II Conference Centre, Westminster, London
10:30am to 4pm (coffee and registration 9:30am)

The National Teacher Research Panel is hosting its 4th biennial Conference in November 2008 in partnership with the Economic and Social Research Council Teaching and Learning Research Programme who will be celebrating the six years of school sector work through this joint event to be held in the prestigious QEII conference centre in London.

This free event will provide a forum for teachers and school leaders, professional researchers and local and national policy makers to learn together from the best practitioner research in the system. The conference represents a unique opportunity to examine key issues emerging from rigorous practitioner enquiry over the previous 2 years and has established a reputation for innovation and high quality.

Delegates will be able to visit various workshops led by practitioner-researchers, exhibitions and an interactive zone including a 'research into practice' wall and a 'meet the researcher' corner.

For further details and to find out how you can be involved in this ambitious and exciting venture, please contact Corinne Oldknow, Panel Administrator at corinne.oldknow@curee.co.uk.
